The Orchard at White Street Park Donation Information

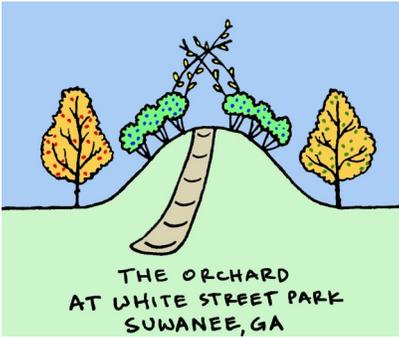

330 Town Center Avenue
Suwanee, GA 30024

The city of Suwanee continues to be a leader in the community gardening movement. In 2010, White Street Park, located at 752 White Street in Suwanee, became home to Harvest Farm, one of the largest organic community gardens in the Southeast. Since its opening seven years ago, it has been filled to capacity each year, supported the community through charitable giving, been recognized by CNN and FOX5, and received grants from the FoodWell Alliance and Whole Foods. With your help, we are excited to take the next step.

The City of Suwanee has now completed construction on the second phase of White Street Park, which includes a large public orchard. The project is the first of its kind in Georgia and features a fully functional orchard that is open to the community and public. The Orchard at White Street Park is a welcoming space for people of all ages. It is designed to provide families with a fun and engaging space that changes through the seasons, encourages creative and self-guided outdoor play, and grows fresh fruit. It is nourishment for the mind, body, and soul.

The orchard contains over seventy-five fruiting trees and shrubs of thirty different varieties. The initial community fundraising effort helped not only to purchase these plants, but also build the foundation of a natural playground. We would like to continue to plant more fruit trees and to develop more natural playground elements into the space. This will benefit everyone in the surrounding communities. The goal is to create a destination point that will also serve as an educational tool to all schools, organizations and the community for years to come.

All donations are tax-deductible and should be written to "City of Suwanee". Please reference "Orchard Donation" on the check. Please see details in this packet for different levels of sponsorship and corresponding recognition.
