Winners

The votes are in, and the 2015-17 Suwanee SculptTour People's Choice winner is... The Herd by Phil Proctor! The Suwanee Public Arts Commission, using donated funds, will purchase the eight charming goats that reside near the cemetery at the corner of Buford Highway and Lawrenceville-Suwanee Road, making them the newest additions to Suwanee's permanent art collection.

Fabricated out of steel and weighing about 100 pounds each, Atlanta artist Proctor says that The Herd symbolizes the concept of awareness. All of the goats – save one – have their faces to the ground, seeing only what is in front of their noses. One goat raises his head to experience the beauty of his surroundings.

"All too often we find ourselves immersed in work, worry, or just the everyday tasks of life and our awareness of self and our place becomes clouded," said Proctor. "The Herd is a reminder to look up and remember what's really important."

The 2015-17 Suwanee SculptTour exhibit was removed at the end of March, with the new pieces being installed in early May. The 2017-19 exhibit, which will feature 20 pieces of art in and around Town Center, will officially kick off at the SculptTour Sip & See event on May 20. This new event will include guided wine tours of the art and an opportunity to meet some of the featured artists and discuss their work, as well as a performance of Memphis by the Aurora Theatre on the Town Center stage.

The Herd isn't the only sculpture being given an extended stay – fan favorites Dancer XX and Friends have been retained for a second round of SculptTour. The artists of these two pieces – Jack Howard-Potter and Nnamdi Okonkwo, respectively – were selected as prize winners by the Public Art Commission, along with:

- Jonathan Bowling - Corey
- Andrew T. Crawford – Sunflower Gate
- Benson Sculpture – Love Hurts
- Hanna Jubran – The Three Muses

Yes, you do. That's kinda what we mean by "lantern parade"....

ART ON A LIMB RETURNS TO SUWANEE

Spring has sprung in Suwanee, and with the blooming of the dogwoods comes another annual tradition in our parks: Art on a Limb! Through the Art on a Limb program, the City of Suwanee hides two pieces of art along one of the greenways or within city parks each day throughout the month of May. Those who find the art pieces get to keep them!

This year’s Art on a Limb artist is a community favorite, as well as a previous program participant: Potter Richard Shivers – also known as “Mr. Shivers the Music Teacher” to 35 years’ worth of Riverside Elementary alumni.

“Knowing the project would be displayed in the parks, I designed a pottery piece of a tree leaf,” said Shivers. “We stroll, play, exercise, and gather at the beautiful parks in our town and nature is an important part of our community.”

Shivers also created the green ceramic frog bowls with leafy tree branches that served as the 2014 Art on a Limb offering.

“Art on a Limb was a ten-year-old program at the time, and we wondered if it had reached the end of its lifespan,” said Suwanee Events & Outreach Manager Amy Doherty. “I credit Mr. Shivers for breathing new life into an old program! People were so excited to search for art created by a well-known community member, especially former students.”

Pottery was one of those things Shivers had always wanted to do “one day.” After retirement and five years learning from “some of the best pottery teachers in the Atlanta area” at the

“Each leaf has a heart-shape cut out in the center of the piece to represent the Suwanee community we love. The piece is made from a special clay called “Peach” to correlate with Georgia being the Peach State. The pattern on each leaf is an abstract swirling circle to compliment the Suwanee logo circles and the colors chosen for the project were taken from the colors of the Suwanee logo: bright yellow, lime, blue, red, beige, purple, orange, gold, green, and pink. Each leaf has an additional pottery piece with an “S” stamped into the clay plus “Suwanee” is impressed on the back of each leaf. Beads of various sizes were added to the piece, again with chosen colors from the Suwanee logo to decorate each piece and give it “artsy” touch, which also supports the confirmation that this is an art community. The result is each leaf is different, but yet the same in some way just like a community.”

– Artist Richard Shivers

Hudgens Center for the Arts, he decided to get serious about his hobby and opened his home studio, Measure of Clay.

“I am excited about this project and preparing the leaf pieces for Suwanee. The leaf will look realistic hanging from a tree limb, yet bright enough to attract attention,” said Shivers. “Having an art piece to take home from the park is a great acknowledgement of the importance of art, as well as a wonderful gift from the city to its people.”

CITY OF SUWANEENAMES ITS 2017 SUWANEENEE YOUTH LEADERS CLASS

The City of Suwanee has named the members of its fourth Suwanee Youth Leaders (SYL) class for the year 2017. These students were chosen based on a combination of the strength of application, feedback from a student-led selection committee made up of recent SYL graduates, recommendations from teachers and school administrators, academic performance, and extracurricular resume.

SYL is an eight-month leadership program for high school sophomores and juniors who live within the North Gwinnett, Peachtree Ridge, or Collins Hills cluster districts. Participants gain genuine exposure to local initiatives and community and civic leaders, while also allowing the City to engage with youth providing a strong voice and active role in planning the City's success.

Suwanee Youth Leaders recently won a Southeast Festivals and Events Association Bronze Kaleidoscope Award for Most Creative Idea for collaboration with Suwanee Fest. SYL also won an Atlanta Regional Commission 2016 CREATE Community Award in the category of Educational Excellence.

“The Suwanee Youth Leaders program allows the City to make a genuine commitment to the youth in our community,” said Suwanee Downtown Business & Development Manager Adam Edge, a co-leader of the program. “While it’s an honor to win awards, it’s an even greater reward to see kids becoming invested in their community through this initiative.”

Thanks to SYL, said Assistant City Manager Denise Brinson, “We now have a group of young people who have more knowledge of their community and how local government works and the work that goes into building community. The City wanted to develop a real connection with our schools and find a way to meaningfully encourage youth involvement as prescribed in our strategic plan – not just checking a box, but building sincere, authentic relationships.”

Suwanee Branch is Gwinnett Public Library's Most Popular

Spread the words, citizens of Suwanee – your public library is the most popular branch in Gwinnett County!

“Our theory behind the popularity of the Suwanee branch is its great location,” said Gwinnett Public Library Development Manager Shelly Schwerzler. “Its proximity to Town Center allows for amazing accessibility. You can go to the library, then the park, then for ice cream, all without getting back in your car.”

“Some of our older branches are a bit off the beaten path,” added Marketing Manager Cliff Ibarondo.

LITTLE FREE LIBRARIES

Another trend in borrowed literature, Little Free Libraries, are sweeping the Suwanee community. A Little Free Library is a “take a book, return a book” exchange: anyone may borrow or lend. Little Free Libraries have just been completed at Suwanee Creek Park, White Street Park, and PlayTown Suwanee as an Eagle Scout project by Boy Scout Maylan Wareham.

CITY OF SUWANEЕ PUBLIC ART FUNDRAISER EVENT BRINGS HOME THE HARDWARE

The City's March 2016 public art fund- and awareness-raising event, Guess Who's Coming to Cocktails, was honored with multiple Kaleidoscope Awards at the Southeast Festivals and Events Association's (SFEA) Annual Conference in Lexington, KY on February 21, 2017.

The giant cocktail party at Suwanee City Hall won the silver prize for Best New Event, a silver for Best Event Video, and a bronze award for Best Print Ad. The city also won a bronze award for Most Creative Idea for its collaboration with the Suwanee Youth Leaders and Suwanee Fest transportation.

Designed to recognize the marketing, programming, and overall event, the SFEA Kaleidoscope Awards acknowledge the highest level of achievement in the festival and event industry throughout the southeast United States. This year, 22 organizations submitted 119 entries for the top prizes.

"I'm so proud of our staff and volunteers for continuing to make our events award-winning memory makers for those that attend," said Suwanee Events & Outreach Manager Amy Doherty.

2017 STAR STUDENTS AND TEACHERS RECOGNIZED

PEACHTREE RIDGE SENIOR TIES FOR TOP HONOR

An event which celebrates some of Gwinnett County's brightest students culminated with the naming of a former Suwanee Youth Leader as one of Gwinnett County's STAR Students. Peachtree Ridge High School senior Eric Yan shares this year's title of 2017 STAR Student, representing the Gwinnett County's public and private schools.

TIME MAGAZINE NAMES SUWANEЕ ONE OF "The 100 Most Genius Places in America"

Based on metrics centering on the number of patents issued by the U.S. Patents and Trademark Office, TIME magazine has named the City of Suwanee to the list of "100 Most Genius Places in America."

Suwanee's top patents were inventions from Arris Group, a company that has patented IP, video, and broadband technology.

Suwanee is one of only two cities from the state of Georgia to make the list (the other being Norcross). This is the second consecutive year that Suwanee has made the list.

Yan earned the county title by having the highest SAT score among the countywide Class of 2017. As part of the recognition, each STAR student selected a teacher who has had a strong influence on his/her academic career. Yan selected Mr. Gabriel Pak, who taught him AP Physics C: Mechanics.

Other winners from Suwanee include Douglas Court from Collins Hill High School (STAR Teacher: Mr. Ryan Keefer) and another former Suwanee Youth Leader, Jonathan Park from North Gwinnett High School (STAR Teacher: Mr. Jeremy Martin).

As the 2017 Gwinnett County STAR Student, Yan will now move on and compete for the regional title. Regional winners will then move to the state level for the honor of being named Georgia's 2017 STAR Student.
